

CONTENT PLANNING & SCHEDULING SYSTEM

A repeatable content operations system for personal brands & small businesses

Prepared by Evangeline Amadi • Evy Data Entry Services • Portfolio

OVERVIEW

This system shows how I plan, schedule, and manage content across multiple platforms so a business or personal brand can post consistently without last-minute scrambling. It covers content pillars, a weekly posting rhythm, a sample two-week calendar, platform-specific guidelines, and the repurposing workflow I use to stretch one idea across channels.

Built and used to run content for my own brand (Evangeline Amadi – Skill to Income) across Facebook and LinkedIn, and adaptable to any client's voice, platforms, and goals.

1. CONTENT PILLARS

Every post maps to one of four pillars, so content stays balanced between building trust, connecting personally, and driving bookings.

Pillar	Purpose	Example Formats
Authority	Demonstrate expertise and build trust with practical, useful knowledge	How-to tips, checklists, mini tutorials
Story	Build connection through personal journey and real client outcomes	Comeback story, client wins, behind-the-scenes
Offer	Convert interest into inquiries and bookings	Service spotlights, testimonials, calls-to-action
Engagement	Spark conversation and increase reach organically	Polls, questions, relatable posts

2. WEEKLY POSTING RHYTHM

4 Facebook posts + 2–3 LinkedIn posts per week, timed for maximum organic reach (evening WAT for Facebook, morning WAT for LinkedIn).

Day	Platform	Content Pillar	Posting Window (WAT)
Monday	Facebook	Authority	6:30 – 8:00 PM
Tuesday	LinkedIn	Authority	8:00 – 9:30 AM
Wednesday	Facebook	Story	6:30 – 8:00 PM
Thursday	LinkedIn	Offer	8:00 – 9:30 AM
Friday	Facebook	Engagement	6:30 – 8:00 PM
Sunday	Facebook	Offer / Recap	6:30 – 8:00 PM

4. PLATFORM-SPECIFIC GUIDELINES

- Facebook: warmer, more personal tone; longer storytelling captions; evening posting for higher engagement; strong visual or carousel component.
- LinkedIn: professional but human tone; leads with a clear insight or result; shorter paragraphs, line breaks for readability; posted in the morning to catch work-day scroll windows.
- Early engagement seeding: reply to first comments within 30–60 minutes of posting to boost algorithmic reach on both platforms.

5. CONTENT WORKFLOW

- Ideation: pull weekly topics from client wins, FAQs, and industry trends
- Drafting: write captions/scripts in batches, one sitting per week
- Repurposing: adapt one core idea into a Facebook story post and a LinkedIn insight post
- Scheduling: load into Meta Business Suite / LinkedIn scheduler at least 3 days ahead
- Engagement: monitor and respond to comments within the first hour of posting
- Review: track which pillars and formats perform best, adjust the following week's mix
